BlueCross BlueShield of South Carolina accepts these general claim status inquiries:

1. All claim header and line information for a specific patient and provider
2. All claim header and line information for a specific patient, provider and claim number
3. All claim header and line information for a specific patient, provider and service date range
4. All claim header and line information for a specific patient, provider and total charge
5. All claim header and line information for a specific patient, provider service date range and total charge

Each request may contain one patient and one provider. Because each request is specific to one patient and one provider, only one DMG segment will appear in each request — either 2000D DMG when the patient is the subscriber, or 2000E DMG when the patient is a dependent. When the subscriber is the patient, the 2200D DTP segments are required.

When the patient is a dependent, the 2200E AMT and DTP segments are required.

If BlueCross BlueShield of South Carolina is able to locate the Subscriber Identification Number submitted in the request, but cannot determine the applicable patient on the contract, it will return claims for all patients on the contract that match the submitted Provider Identification Number and fall within the submitted date of service range.

The AMT segment is not required. If it is submitted, the AMT02 element does not include an implied decimal point, and leading zeros are suppressed. For example, to enter a claim amount of $100.00, the value of the AMT02 field will appear as 100. To enter $100.20, the amount will appear in the data stream as 100.2. Likewise, $100.01 will appear in the field as 100.01. A maximum of 10 characters are allowed in this element.

The DTP segment is required even when the requestor does not want the claims filtered according to claim amount or service date. In requests that do not have a total charge specified (numbers 1–3 above) the AMT02 element must contain a single 0 (zero) in the field. Otherwise, the total amount of the claim is entered. The AMT02 element does not include an implied decimal point, and leading zeros are suppressed. For example, to enter a claim amount of $100.00, the value of the AMT02 field will appear as 100. To enter $100.20, the amount will appear in the data stream as 100.2. Likewise, $100.01 will appear in the field as 100.01. A maximum of 10 characters are allowed in this element.

To ensure that the request does not exclude any claims based upon date of service, BlueCross recommends that the DTP03 element in the 2200D or 2200E loop begin with 20000101 (January 1, 2000) and end with the last day of the current year request dater. For example, when a request for claim status is sent on August 31, 2009, the DTP line should appear as DTP*232*RD8*20000101-20090831~. This date range ensures that all relevant claims are returned.
